CAREGIVER DECLARATION OF RIGHTS

For Hospice Palliative and End Life Care. (2019)

RESPECT

You should be respected and included as a valuable member of the care team.

HONESTY

With the permission of the person you are caring for, you should be provided clear information about the individual's disease, condition and prognosis in words you can understand, and participate in conversations with the care team* to understand options and ask questions.

SELF-CARE

You should be able to seek help from others and be supported to take care of yourself which includes accessing any available respite and support you need to take a break. This is not an act of selfishness. It will enable you to take better care of your loved one.

COMMUNICATION

You have the right to express your thoughts and emotions, whatever they may be, in a way that is respectful of others, as well as be validated for your feelings.

ADVOCACY

You should be provided the opportunity to have a voice, provide meaningful feedback, and express those ongoing efforts be made in Ontario to find resources to support caregivers like yourself.

HONOUR

Your role as a caregiver is important and you should expect to be valued and honoured in this role by others.

SERVICES

You should receive services and information that is aligned with your cultural preferences and accessibility needs to support your caregiving.

HOPE

You should be supported in maintaining hope and a positive outlook, however changing its' focus may be.

INDIVIDUALITY

You should be recognized as a person beyond and including your caregiver role and be supported in maintaining a life for yourself as you choose.

*Care Team is defined as anyone the patient chooses to have included in their circle of care, including both formal and informal care providers.

